Roles of Travel Incentives on Employee Motivation and Performance

Dr. Nucharee Supatn¹

¹ Assistant Professor of Department of Management, Martin de Tours School of Management and Economics, Assumption University

Abstract

Travel incentive is a type of the organizational reward that includes individual business meeting, group travel to offsite business meetings, as well as the travel and tours to any places outside the office. The influences of three factors related to travel incentives i.e. destination image, need for travel, and self-congruity on employees' perceived value on the travel incentives, their work motivation, as well as their job performance were tested in this research. Questionnaire survey was conducted. The 418 sets of data were collected from the employees of the firms located in central business districts. The structural equation modeling was performed to determine the relationships among major constructs. The results indicated that destination image influenced perceived value and job performance. Need for travel influenced both work motivation and performance of the employees. Self-congruity influenced perceived value and work motivation. Perceived value could influence work motivation. Finally, work motivation was found to influence job performance of the employees.

An Integrative Literature Review of Global Nursing Ethics

Yoshimi Suzuki¹, Rie Sayama¹

¹ Faculty of Nursing, Toho University

Abstract

Objectives : The purpose of the integrative literature review is to investigate the literature concerning GNE from the viewpoint of the kind of literature, the countries where the primary authors live, and the major topics related to ethics. We then will generalize on the present condition of GNE. Method : Our review was based on the methodology of Cooper's integrative review. We searched the literature of the last ten years using the Pubmed database, CHINAL, and Japana Centra Revuo Medicina. 86 literatures that met our criteria were analyzed. Findings : (1) 53 out of the 86 literatures contained "Information". (2) Regarding where the primary authors live, 42 live in the United States, 11 in the United Kingdom, and seven in Canada. (3) The numbers of major topics reviewed were : 1) Nursing ethics between each country, (a) 21 ethical issues related to immigration of nurses, (b) ten related to global nursing cooperation, (c) seven regarding comparison of nursing ethics between countries: 2) nursing ethics on a global scale, (a) 12 related to interpretation and use of global code of ethics for nurses, (b) 11 related to ethical consideration in global nursing research. Implication : (1) This research indicates that the knowledge of GNE has been spreading. Although the importance of GNE has been recognized, future research may be required. (2) The top three authors are from English speaking countries indicating that geographical bias exists in the countries that deal with GNE. (3) GNE depends on the context, so, it is necessary to pay attention to where and how they are used.
