

FORTUNE

VOL. 152, NO. 12

6 Index

8 Letters

84 Bing!

FIRST

11 Up Against the Cement Wall

The United States has a cement shortage, but high tariffs and hardening positions have kept Mexican manufacturers at bay.

BY TELIS DEMOS

12 By the Numbers

Are Chinese executives more intelligent than their American counterparts? A new survey says that at least when it comes to emotional intelligence, they are.

BY KONG DEJUN

14 Cobbling a Media Empire in Kabul

Saad Mohseni's Tolo TV has become one of the hottest stations in Afghanistan. The mullahs aren't happy.

BY ERIC ELLIS

16 Relax Your Way to Success

London businessmen are flocking to a former media-exec-turned-hypnotist who charges $265 an hour.

BY SHELLEY EMLING

18 Question Authority

Arun Sarin, CEO of Britain's Vodafone, on perception problems, future growth, and the joy of watching television on a mobile phone.

BY JANET GUYON

22 Picture This

London's Routemaster buses—the iconic double-deckers—will soon be making their final stops.

BY NELSON D. SCHWARTZ

24 This Just In

Will opposition from the United States block a 1,600-mile natural gas pipeline connecting Iran, Pakistan, and India?

BY SONYA FAZAH

FEATURES

30 COVER STORIES / What's Next for Stocks Five questions every investor should keep in mind, plus ten solid stocks poised to prosper. BY JON BIRGER AND DAVID STIRES

COLVIN VS. SERWER

46 We're Still Too Exuberant The man who wrote the book on irrational investing says we haven't learned our lesson. I believe him. BY GEOFFREY COLVIN

47 Nope—We're Too Gloomy These days it's chic to be down on the market. But positive omens abound—not the least of which is pessimism. BY ANDY SERWER

48 The European Paradox Europe's economy may be lukewarm, but its stock markets are screaming—and primed for more growth. Here are six companies to bet on. BY NELSON D. SCHWARTZ

48 The Paris Bourse, home of the CAC 40, is one of several European indexes that had double-digit gains in 2005.

LUC CHOUQUER

56 Star Funds Seven winners that have proved their mettle in booms, busts—and everything in between. BY YUVAL ROSENBERG

63 Cheers and Tears It was a relatively calm year on Wall Street. Even so, there were some spectacular winners—and major flops. BY EUGENIA LEVENSON

65 Media Bubble Investors have fallen out of love with the American entertainment conglomerates. What will it take to win them back? BY DEVIN LEONARD

67 Meet the New Stock Cop The critics were sure that Securities and Exchange Commission chairman Christopher Cox would be a disaster for investors. So far they've been wrong. BY NICHOLAS VARCHAVER

72 The Rainwater Prophecy Billionaire investor Richard Rainwater can sense a big opportunity coming. So why is he so worried? BY OLIVER RYAN

TOM SCHERLITZ

Demand from millions of gold-loving Chinese and Indians is escalating.

page 44

BUSINESS LIFE

81 The Light Jet Age

Coming soon to an airstrip near you: superlight jets starting at around a million bucks. But which planes will fly? Stuart F. Brown checks out the new breed of small wonders.

82 Diamonds in the Rough

83 Expert Testimony

Beverly Hills wine consultant Jeff Smith offers five things that every aspiring oenophile needs to know.

BY JULIA BOORSTIN

83 Auctions Come of Age

FORTUNE Asia (ISSN 0738-5587) is published 23 issues a year by Time Inc. Principal office: Time & Life Building, Rockefeller Center, New York, N.Y. 10020-1393. Ann S. Moore, Chairman and CEO; John S. Redpath Jr., Secretary. FORTUNE Asia may also publish occasional extra issues. Customer Service and Subscriptions: For 24/7 service, please use our website: www.fortune.com/customer-service. You may also contact Customer Services Center at 852-3128-5688, or e-mail to enquiries@timeinc.com or write to 30/F, Oxford House, Taikoo Place, 979 King's Road, Quarry Bay, Hong Kong. Subscribers: If the postal authorities alert us that your magazine is undeliverable, we have no further obligation unless we receive a corrected address within two years. Mailing List: We make a portion of our mailing list available to reputable firms. If you would prefer that we not include your name, please contact Customer Services Center. Member, Audit Bureau of Circulations. ©2005 Time Inc. All rights reserved. FORTUNE is a registered mark of Time Inc. FORTUNE Asia is printed in Singapore. Singapore MICA (P)312/06/2005. Malaysia KKDN permit PPS 1162/04/2006. Publisher: Michael Federle.