

FORTUNE

CONTENTS June 26, 2006 • Vol. 153, No. 11

RETIRE RICH

36 THE FORTUNE 40: The Best Stocks to Buy Now

Our picks are designed to help you weather the market's wild swings and build long-term wealth. BY DAVID STIRES

44 The Ultimate Fund Portfolio

Ten solid choices for long-term growth. BY YUVAL ROSENBERG

48 Still Smokin' Irrepressible at 81, business icon Lee Iacocca talks to Alex Taylor III about life, Exxon's Lee Raymond, and why he's writing a new book.

53 The End of a Dream

Even healthy firms are killing off pension plans. BY GEOFFREY COLVIN

58 China Goes From Red to Gray

An aging population, an underfunded pension system, and half-a-billion workers who aren't covered could be a drag on economic growth. BY ROBERT C. POZEN

60 Talking 'Bout Our Generation

Will aging boomers pull their money out of the market and cause an asset meltdown on their way to retirement? BY YUVAL ROSENBERG

66 Secrets to a Happy Retirement Drive till you can't remember where you parked. Spend money on things you don't need. And eat four rashers of bacon every day. BY STANLEY BING

FIRST

10 Operator vs. Handset Maker

Who will control the $42 billion in entertainment that mobile-phone users are expected to buy? BY MARK HALPER ...

11 Leading Indicators Really bad math at Fannie Mae, flying penguins, and more. BY OLIVER RYAN ... 12 Six Inches Under A Swedish company has come up with a process for turning the dead into compost. BY EVA BARKEMAN ...

13 Vulture Wars President Denis Sassou-Nguesso of the Republic of Congo sounds off about the hedge funds that hold hundreds of millions of his country's debt. BY ROBERT FRIEDMAN ... 13 The Chopsticks That Ate China

To save its forests, China is trying to discourage the use of wooden chopsticks. BY ZHANG DAN ... 14 Question Authority Sanyo chairman Tomoyo Nonaka talks about losing her CEO title, and her company's "green" strategy.

DISPATCHES

18 Sarmi's Army

Poste Italiane's CEO and his 150,000 foot soldiers are making money on everything but delivering the mail. BY STEPHAN FARIS

20 Found in Translation

Canon's new electronic dictionary is both a product and a symbol of Japanese-Chinese economic cooperation. BY EAMONN FINGLETON

BUSINESS LIFE

73 Where to Retire in Style

We get it: You're consumed with golf. Or fly-fishing. Or you dream of retiring someplace where the surf is up—but taxes aren't. Whatever your fixation, we've found the best place in the U.S. to make your retirement fantasy a reality. BY ELLEN FLORIAN KRATZ

FORTUNE.COM

FORTUNE's online home has information and tools to prepare you for life after work. fortune.com/retirement

Do the Math

Are you on track for retirement? Forty-three percent of U.S. households aren't. Use our online tools and tips to assess your progress and test out potential adjustments.

- SAVINGS CALCULATOR: Tells you exactly what your current savings will add up to when you're 65.
- ASSET ALLOCATOR: Shows how to tweak your investments as you get closer to retirement and your risk profile changes.

Making Life Richer

• EXPATRIATE RETIREES are living large. Check out the best regions in Mexico for retirees, homes for sale in France, and lots more on the good life in our new lifestyle section. fortune.com/lifestyle

STAY AHEAD OF THE CURVE

Read our retirement page daily for the latest news about Social Security, Medicare, 401(k) rules, pensions, and taxes.