

CE

36 Cerebral artery stenosis paves the way for a stroke

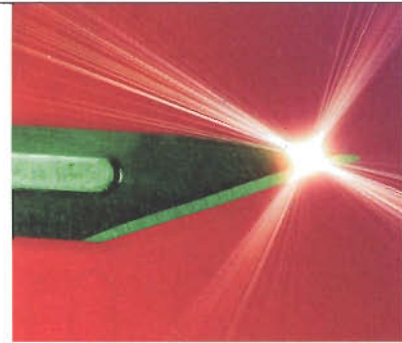

By Rachel L. Palmieri, RN-C/ANP, MS

Learn about new approaches to prevent or treat stroke, and lifestyle changes your patient can use to protect himself.

58 Best-practice interventions: Preventing surgical site infections

By Jan Odom-Forren, RN, CPAN, MS, FAAN

Take the four steps detailed here to reduce your patient's risk.

100k
Lives

Reducing postop infection risks, page 58

33 Clinical rounds: News, updates, research

New legislation aims to protect nurses from back injuries... C-section update... surfing nursing blogs... and more.

43 SHARING A place for Agnes

By Chase Montara, RN

Agnes had seemed unreachable—but under our care, she blossomed.

44 ISSUES IN NURSING Nurses in white? Still a pressing issue

What do nurses think about wearing white? You may be surprised at the results of our informal survey.

46 Nutrition for diabetes—all in a day's work

By Sharon A. Watts, RN-C, CDE, ND, and Janet Anselmo, RD, BC-ADM, CDE, MS

Do your patients hate food plans and exchange lists? The 2006 American Diabetes Association guidelines discussed here give them more flexibility than ever.

49 Caring for a patient with lymphedema

By Deena Damsky Dell, RN, AOCN, BC, MSN, and Cheri Doll, CLT-LANA, MSPT

Follow these standards to manage this common complication of cancer treatment.

52 Understanding the new AHA guidelines, part III

By Karen Jean Craig, RN, EMT-P, BS, and Loraine Hopkins-Pepe, RN, MSN

Make sure you're current on recent changes in pediatric advanced life support.

54 PROFESSIONAL GROWTH Are you a culturally competent preceptor?

By Marlene V. Obermeyer, RN, MA

With this practical guide, you can help mentor international nurses as they adapt to nursing practice in North America.

56 Patient-education guide: Nonmelanoma skin cancer

By Susan Simmons Holcomb, RN, ARNP, BC, MN, PhD

Teach your patient about his skin cancer, then give him this handout to take home.

80 ACTION STAT Methylene chloride inhalation

By Deborah H. Smith, RN, CHCRM, CSPI, BSN, MAEd

Act fast to treat potentially fatal carbon monoxide poisoning.

Rain boosts ED admissions, page 34

New dietary guidelines for diabetes, page 46