nursing older people
February 2009 Volume 21 Issue 1

3 Editorial
The National Dementia Strategy

4 News

6-8 News analysis
Socialising using the internet is healthy for older people; an emergency card for carers to carry that gives them peace of mind

10 Comment
When measuring dignity, do consult older people, urges Les Bright

12 Comment
Nurses should take the lead on the National Dementia Strategy, says Deborah Sturdy

15 Comment
Linda Moden stresses the importance of dementia care training

17 Media watch
The annual winter death toll of older people fails to make the headlines; and take a dip into the BBC’s mood spa and see Ruby Wax in her new role

19 Don’t quote me
Rachel Totterdell, a nursing student from Sheffield

20 Ask the experts
How do the four countries which make up the UK approach dementia care?

24 The use of an assessment tool in care homes
Laura Stosz and Iain Carpenter describe an assessment instrument from the US that is taking off over here

26 Discharge planning: the role of the discharge co-ordinator

32 Test your knowledge

33 Identifying, reporting and preventing elder abuse in the practice setting

39 Practice profile assessment

EDITORIAL ADVISORY BOARD
Professor June Andrews Dementia Services Development Centre, University of Stirling
Abigail Masterson MN, BSc, RN, PGCEA, Assistant Director of Clinical Quality, The Health Foundation
Irene Schofield MSc, RGN, RNT, Research Fellow in Gerontological Nursing, Glasgow Caledonian University
Deborah Sturdy RN, MSc (Edin), Nurse Adviser, Older People, Department of Health