

GERIATRIC NURSING

DEPARTMENTS

FROM THE EDITOR

- 198 Malpractice in Geriatrics: Are We Surviving?

Barbara Resnick

- 201 NEWSVIEW

- 203 CALENDAR

PHARMACY COLUMN

- 204 Medication Overuse and Misuse

Barbara J. Zarowitz

LEGAL COLUMN

- 207 Facility-Wide Changes Required by the New CMS Activities F-248 Guidance

Donna J. Senft

NGNA SECTION

- 209 Lifelong Physical Activity Patterns of Sedentary Mexican American Women

Sandra L. Cromwell and Judith A. Berg

- 214 Gerontological Nursing: The Future Is Now

NCGNP SECTION

- 215 Pharmacology Update

Ann Schmidt Luggen

- 215 Research on Aging

Ann Schmidt Luggen

- 216 Where the Past Meets the Future: A Legacy of Leadership and Clinical Excellence 25th Annual NCGNP Conference September 27–October 1, 2006, Marriot Sawgrass Resort and Spa, Ponte Vedra, Florida

FEATURE ARTICLES

- 217 Libraries of Life: Using Life History Books with Depressed Care Home Residents

Nicola Ann Plastow

Reminiscence, an independent nursing therapy used by a variety of health and social care professionals, can prevent or reduce depression.

- 222 Nurses' Advance Care Planning Communication: An Investigation

Kathy Black and Cathy Emmet

Planning in advance for future healthcare decision-making is increasingly important for older people. This study describes acute-based nurses' advance directive communication with their older patients. Results suggest that nurses' practices reflect a broader process of advance care planning and that age, years of experience and personal experience with advance directives are associated with communication practices.