FEATURE ARTICLES

9 Developing a Self-Reported Tool on Fall Risk Based on Toileting Responses on In-Hospital Falls

Anita Ko, Huong Van Nguyen, Leemin Chan, Qing Shen, Xiao Man Ding, Daniel Leonard Chan, Daniel Kam Yin Chan, Kaye Brock, and Lindy Clemson

A simple bed-side questionnaire regarding patients' toileting behaviour, with a careful appraisal of answers for appropriate and inappropriate answers, may be used as a quick screening tool of fall risk.

17 The Conceptualization and Measurement of Individualized Care

Andreas Charalambous, Neena L. Chappell, Jouko Katajisto, and Riitta Suhonen

Individualized nursing care, a form of person-centred care delivery, is accepted as best practice yet its implementation into actual care is far from complete. Appropriate measures of this elusive concept are needed to better understand barriers to implementation. This study explores and tests the convergent validity and the reliability of two individualized nursing care measures.

28 An Internet Training to Reduce Assaults in Long-Term Care

Blair Irvine, Molly B. Billow, Donna M. Gates, Evelyn L. Fitzwater, John R. Seeley, and Michelle Bourgeois

This research evaluated an Internet training designed to teach Nurse Aides (NAs) strategies to work with aggressive resident behaviors.

41 Outcomes from the Implementation of a Facility-Specific Evidence-Based Falls Prevention Intervention Program in Residential Aged Care

Jennifer Nitz, Elizabeth Cyarto, Sharon Andrews, Marcia Fearn, Stephanie Fu, Terrence Haines, Betty Haralambous, Keith Hill, Susan Hunt, Emma Lea, Kirsten Moore, Emma Renehan, and Andrew Robinson

A prospective cohort study with 670 residents and 650 staff measured the impact of falls reduction following the implementation of evidence-based fall prevention interventions in nine Australian residential care facilities. Reduction in fallers was sustained in the 6-month follow-up phase.
