Departments

12 COMPANY INDEX

14 FROM THE EDITOR
Tools for Change
It takes dirty hands and messy conversations to execute strategy.

22 FORETHOUGHT
Companies can stop the female brain drain in science...Get a panel of experts to advise your firm on social issues...Government subsidies are the key to Chinese firms' low costs...Online business scams are on the rise...How companies can pursue their "deep future"...A guide to China's new tax incentives...Tying CEO pay to performance with integrity...Thorough preparation is the prerequisite to success...The roadblock between women and the C-suite.

41 HBR CASE STUDY
Why Are We Losing All Our Good People?
Edward E. Lawler III
Several talented employees have recently left the architecture and engineering firm Sambian Partners – and the CEO has no idea why. How can she find out what's wrong and prevent more employees from jumping ship? With commentary by Anna Pringle, F. Leigh Branhm, Jim Cornelius, and Jean Martin.

94 STRATEGIC HUMOR

123 MANAGING YOURSELF
How the Best of the Best Get Better and Better
Graham Jones
What separates elite performers from the rest of the pack? According to a noted sports psychologist turned executive coach, it's a special form of mental grit.

129 BIG PICTURE
Patent Sharks
Joachim Henkel and Markus Reitzig
Attacks by patent sharks - firms with hidden intellectual property that surface, threatening to sue, when their rights are inadvertently infringed - are on the rise. To escape intact, you'll have to turn your R&D processes inside out.

134 LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

138 EXECUTIVE SUMMARIES

144 PANEL DISCUSSION
Strategy Paradox
Don Moyer
Investing in the big opportunity invariably brings along a chance for the big catastrophe.

53 FIRST PERSON
Business Basics at the Base of the Pyramid
Vikram Akula
The founder and CEO of SKS Microfinance does business with some of the world's poorest people in a way that lifts them up and makes money for the firm. His formula: Stick to for-profit principles while truly placing customers' interests first.