34 BIG PICTURE
Obama’s First 90 Days
Michael D. Watkins
Faced with a profound turnaround challenge, the new U.S. president has attempted to achieve early wins, build personal credibility, and accrue and manage political capital. How well has he fared?

36 DIFFERENT VOICE
Relentless Idealism for Tough Times
A Conversation with Renowned Restaurateur Alice Waters
The founder of Chez Panisse insists that her staunch commitment to organic ingredients and local suppliers is not only realistic but crucial these days.

92 TOOL KIT
The Audit Committee’s New Agenda
H. David Sherman, Dennis Carey, and Robert Brust
Audit committees need you – and here’s why there’s never been a better time to join one.

101 MANAGING YOURSELF
Why You Didn’t Get That Promotion
John Beeson
Stellar performance and glowing reviews don’t mean a thing unless you know the unwritten rules of advancement to the C-suite.

116 PANEL DISCUSSION
The Power of Negative Thinking
Don Moyer
If companies wait to take action until crisis looms, it may be too late. Small experiments along the way – in good times and bad – are the smarter approach.