56 Resilience in a Hotter World Corporate profits and global prosperity are both at risk as the weather becomes wilder and resources grow scarcer. To meet these challenges, companies need radical new strategies. Andrew Winston

66 Sustainability a CFO Can Love To achieve the greatest impact, UPS looks for initiatives that already have momentum and where the company’s strengths could make a big difference. Kurt Kuehn with Lynnette McIntire

76 The Collaboration Imperative Preserving the earth’s natural commons and tapping their full value requires new collaboration models that consider the systems as a whole. Ram Nidumolu, Jib Ellison, John Whalen, and Erin Billman

86 How to Survive Climate Change and Still Run a Thriving Business Checklists to help leaders limit risk and capture opportunities across their company’s operations, from materials sourcing to manufacturing, distribution, and end use. Eric Lowitt

ABOVE
Julie Dodd
Illegal Logging
2010, book pages and spines
10" x 5" x 10"

MANAGEMENT TIPS
Quick, practical advice delivered daily to your in-box. hbr.org/management-tips
THE BIG IDEA

Making Business Personal
A close examination of two very different companies suggests that melding business excellence with personal development can create a new kind of competitive advantage. Robert Kegan, Lisa Lahey, Andy Fleming, and Matthew Miller

The Limits of Scale
The well-known strategic rules of markets with network effects—move first and get big fast—are often dead wrong. Hanna Halaburda and Felix Oberholzer-Gee

Coaching the Toxic Leader
Bosses who suffer from narcissism, manic depression, and other serious disorders can make organizations miserable. But with the right kind of help, they may become effective managers. Manfred F.R. Kets de Vries

HOW I DID IT

The CEO of Automattic on Holding “Auditions” to Build a Strong Team
Tryouts let employers see exactly what candidates can do—not just how they come across in interviews. Matt Mullenweg

THE GLOBE

Europe’s Solution Factories
Four strategies that successful European manufacturers are using to find a competitive edge Stephen E. Chick, Arnd Huchzermeier, and Serguei Netessine

39 HOW I DID IT

The CEO of Automattic on Holding “Auditions” to Build a Strong Team
Tryouts let employers see exactly what candidates can do—not just how they come across in interviews. Matt Mullenweg

THE GLOBE

Europe’s Solution Factories
Four strategies that successful European manufacturers are using to find a competitive edge Stephen E. Chick, Arnd Huchzermeier, and Serguei Netessine