Guest Editorial
The Importance of Genetics Education for Undergraduate and Graduate Nursing Programs
Ann Cashion, PhD, RN, FAAN 535

Major Articles
Assuring Ethical Treatment of Students as Research Participants
Renee T. Ridley, PhD, RN 537

Faculty Application of the American Psychological Association Style
Gwen Goetz Morse, PhD, RN 542

Toward an Appreciation of Nursing Scholarship: Recognizing Our Traditions, Contributions, and Presence
Deborah Sally Thou, PhD, RN 552

Identifying Genetics and Genomics Nursing Competencies Common Among Published Recommendations
Karen E. Greco, PhD, RN, ANP-BC; and Catherine Salveson, PhD, RN 557

Nursing Students' Response to Tobacco Cessation Curricula in Minnesota Baccalaureate Nursing Programs
Brenda K. Lenz, PhD, RN, CNE 566

Educational Innovations
Supporting Self-Determination of Older Adults in Community Health Settings: A Curriculum Development Project
Suzanne K. Sikma, PhD, RN 574

Application of the Newell Liberal Arts Model for Interdisciplinary Course Design and Implementation
Barbara Ann Haas, PhD; Judith M. Sheehan, JD; Jennie Ann M. Stone, EdD; and Marj J. Hammer-Beem, MS 579

From the Outside In: A Unique Model for Stimulating Curricula Reform in Nursing Education
Katherine Simmonds, MS, MPH, WHNP-BC; Angel M. Foster, DPhil, MD, AM; and Melanie Zurek, EdM 583

The Health Policy Pathfinder: An Innovative Strategy to Explore Interest Group Politics
Angela Nannini, PhD, FNP 588

Departments
Syllabus Selection: Innovative Learning Activity 592