SALARY AND PRACTICE SURVEY

39 2006 Salary and Practice Survey

Jamesetta A. Newland, PhD, APRN, BC, FNP, FAANP, FNAP

The results from the 2006 Nurse Practitioner Salary and Practice Survey are in! Readers were asked about education, geographic location, practice and prescriptive patterns, and of course, current salary. In addition to answering questions, many nurse practitioners offered their own insights into the profession. Their comments revealed both success and frustration in various areas of practice, particularly compensation.

Manuscripts

The Nurse Practitioner is a refereed journal and articles are accepted on a nonremunerative basis. Submitted manuscripts must contain original material and are reviewed with the explicit understanding that their essential substance or contents have not been or will not be submitted for publication elsewhere. Lippincott Williams & Wilkins: no responsibility for the statements and opinions advanced by contributors. The Nurse Practitioner: The American Journal of Primary Healthcare is registered in the U.S. Patent Office, 1975. The names and contents are copyrighted © 2006 Lippincott Williams & Wilkins. No responsibility is assumed by the publisher for any injury and/or damage to persons or property as a matter of products liability, negligence or otherwise, or from any use or operation of any methods, products, instructions or ideas contained in the material herein. No suggested test or procedure should be carried out unless, in the reader's judgment, its risk is justified. Because of rapid advances in the medical sciences, we recommend that the independent verification of diagnoses and drug dosages should be made. Discussions, views, and recommendations as to medical procedures, choice of drugs, and drug dosages are the responsibility of the authors.
