

4 | POSTCARD: CORNWALL

How a former archaeologist built an ecological paradise in a soggy British clay pit

5 | INBOX

Paradise found Britain's Eden Project, page 4

BRIEFING

9 | THE MOMENT A quantum leap by scientists may clear the ethical and political hurdles impeding stem-cell research

10 | DASHBOARD David Petraeus ushers in a new generation of military leaders; Frito-Lay unveils chips that are good for the earth, if not for you

11 | SPOTLIGHT Thousands are dead after a cyclone hit Bangladesh. Can the country handle the next killer storm?

12 | VERBATIM Cambodia faces its bloody past; ASEAN goes easy on Burma over human-rights abuses; the Japanese whaling fleet sets sail again

13 | MILESTONES Marking the passage of Rhodesia's last Prime Minister and a legendary Hollywood makeup maestro

Hugo Chávez Facing a ring-tone revolt, page 11

PAGE 4 | 9 | 13 | 14 | 28 | 35 | 39 | 45 | 56

Barack Obama Trying to win pragmatic Iowa, page 14

Mahatma Gandhi Saint or simply human? Page 28

On the cover: Cerebral MRI: Phanie—Jupiterimages; Gandhi: Wallace Kirkland—Getty Images; Hitler: Corbis. Insets, from left: Brian Snyder—Reuters; Laurie Sparham—New Line

THE WELL

14 | UNITED STATES
Spinning His Wheels
Barack Obama has momentum. Will Iowa be swept along?

20 | ASIA: PAKISTAN
Trouble in Paradise
Radical Islam arrives in Pakistan's Swat Valley

22 | ASIA: CHINA
Crash Landing
China's day traders get burned

24 | MIDDLE EAST
A City Divided
How Jews and Arabs live together—or don't

COVER STORY

28 | SCIENCE
Ape with a Conscience
To err is human, so how can we stay good?

34 | CURIOUS CAPITALIST
Over a Barrel
Predicting the end of the oil era

LIFE

35 | EDUCATION Some parents are trying to give their kids a head start in kindergarten. But do 3- and 4-year-olds really need after-school tutors?

36 | HEALTH Practitioners say facial yoga is the new fountain of youth. Here are some exercises to try

38 | FOOD From ebony carrots to mushrooms and chickens, cutting-edge restaurants are practicing the dark art of black ingredients

GLOBAL BUSINESS

39 | COMMODITIES With new investment and marketing, India's tea industry is brewing up a comeback

ARTS

45 | MOVIES Sort out the crackers from the turkeys with our 2007 holiday movie preview

51 | MUSIC Punk rock is alive and well—at least in Jakarta

52 | BOOKS Yu Hua's newly translated novel is dark and dolorous

Nicole Kidman Gilding The Golden Compass, page 45

56 | ESSAY The modern obsession with green living has given rise to a new kind of anxiety