

17.A. 2550

BRIEFING

2 | TO OUR READERS

4 | 10 QUESTIONS Lynne Cheney on her memoirs and the Vice President's bad press

The Second Lady
Lynne Cheney, page 4

9 | THE MOMENT In Cambodia, one of the last surviving architects of genocide faces justice

10 | DASHBOARD Google goes lunar; Yale sends its Inca treasures back to Peru; mapping drunk driving in the U.S.

11 | SPOTLIGHT Taiwan's U.N. bid upsets both China and the U.S.

12 | VERBATIM France's Foreign Minister issues a controversial warning on Iran; the world's oldest man isn't done yet; Helen Mirren accepts an Emmy Award

13 | PEOPLE Shakira reads the classics; Will Ferrell auctions a cameo on eBay

14 | MILESTONES

COMMENTARY

15 | MICHAEL KINSLEY In the U.S., taking great umbrage has become a new and popular political game

Educating Shakira The singer hits college, page 13

PAGE 2 9 15 18 24 35 39 45 54

It's no game The risks of investing in North Korea, page 18

Polar positions The race for oil in the Arctic, page 24

On the cover: Photograph by Paul Nicklen. Flags digitally added. Insets, from left: Korea Central News Agency via Korea News Service—AP; Carolyn Kester—AP

THE WELL

18 | ASIA
From Rice to Riches Foreign investors hope a revitalized economy can push North Korea toward reform—but lots of hurdles remain

22 | UNITED STATES
Body Politics Hillary Clinton's savvy health-care proposals may boost her candidacy

COVER STORY

24 | WORLD
Cold War As the Arctic ice melts, an international race for resources and territory heats up

32 | BUSINESS
Rock and a Hard Place Consumers make panic withdrawals, forcing the British government to underwrite a mortgage lender bitten by the subprime bug

LIFE

35 | ENVIRONMENT In the U.S., the climate-change warriors of tomorrow are being educated in greener schools

37 | TECHNOLOGY Expanded phone and wi-fi coverage in the air will make relaxing flights a thing of the past

38 | FIT NATION Caffeine-infused lip balm, candy and even beer are hitting the market: consume in moderation

GLOBAL BUSINESS

39 | SPECIAL REPORT From pharmaceuticals to power, from China to Botswana, companies are learning that social responsibility pays

ARTS

45 | MOVIES Actor Sean Penn and Pearl Jam vocalist Eddie Vedder speak of their collaboration in the new film Into the Wild

49 | BOOKS Machiavelli the lover and family man? A new biography reveals the political philosopher's soft side

Wild boys Vedder and Penn, page 45

54 | ESSAY Japanese politicians keep it all in the family—and the nation suffers as a consequence