Contents
March 2010 | VOLUME 22 | NUMBER 2

5 Editorial
   Make the strategy a reality

News
6 Funding figures show how impact of dementia is ignored
7 Stroke knowledge among care home staff is poor

Analysis
8 Dementia tsar appointed to give direction to strategy
   A report has found that England's dementia strategy lacks leadership

Opinion
10 Book reviews, Acute care Andrew Ketteringham on a leaflet that could go a long way to improving hospital care for people with dementia
11 Policy in practice All nurses should have degree-based preparation, says Maurice Devine
12 Book reviews, Dementia Jonathan Webster found that a BBC programme on 'fixing' care homes revealed the best and, sadly, the worst of practice

Resources
14 Diary, Noticeboard, Awards
15 Journal scan
16 Practice question: is alcohol misuse only a problem in younger people?

Features
18 Making a difference as a nurse consultant
   Ruth Williams talks to Aileen Fraser about how she uses the different components of her role to improve care and safeguard older people
22 A dementia education scheme
   In Cornwall a multiagency strategy has improved the care of patients with memory and communication difficulties
26 How to make care champions
   The techniques being used to train students as older people's champions are discussed by Julie Burdett and colleagues

Continuing professional development
31 Caring for people with end-stage dementia
   Deborah Birch and David Stokoe consider the role of palliative care in the management of patients with dementia
37 Practice profile

Careers
40 Face to face
   Taking time out to do a PhD has given Rona Agnew new career pathways

Cover image: Martin ChaineY

On the cover
18 A decade of excellence
   Nurse consultants
22 Patient communication
   An education scheme to improve care of people with memory problems
26 We are the champions
   How students are being taught to advocate
31 Palliative care
   Approaches to best practice in end-stage dementia

16 Older people are often unaware of safe levels of alcohol consumption
31 Supporting dignity for patients with end-stage dementia