

CONTENTS

Foreword xiii

Acknowledgements xvi

Introduction 1

PART ONE Setting the foundations 9

01 What do we mean by leadership anyway? 11

Leadership: the leaders 12

Leadership: the position 18

Leadership: actions and behaviours 22

Leadership: the results 24

Leadership: an integration 26

Recommended reading 29

Notes 30

02 How do I get better at it? 33

Self-cultivation 34

What are you practising? 35

Deliberate practice 37

Embodiment and mastery 47

Beginnings 48

Recommended reading 50

Notes 50

03 If I am to develop myself, what exactly is my 'self'? 52

The evolution of an idea about who we are 56

Understanding the root question 58

Descartes' answer 58

	An alternative answer? 62	17	CO
	Can we find something that makes more sense? 66		Co
	An embodied mind 69		Me
	Recommended reading 71		Bl
	Notes 71		Jo
04	What does neuroscience have to say about the self? 73		Ap
	Health warning: how to read neuroscience research 74		Re
	Growing a brain: understanding brain development 79	18	GI
	How the brain–body unit functions 83		mi
	Going with our guts 87		So
	From somatic markers to the shape of the self 91		Jo
	Recommended reading 93		Or
	Notes 94		M
05	Embodying our selves 96		Fr
	How somatic markers shape us 96		Ap
	The impact of somatic markers 102		Re
	Applying this to leadership 105		N
	New ideas for leadership development 106
	Recommended reading 108		PA
	Notes 109		—
	PART TWO Exploring the ideas in practice 111
06	Developing choice and clarity as a leader 113
	The meeting 115
	entering 118
	Moving forwards 125
	Applying Jane’s learning 129
	Recommended reading 140
	Notes 144
		19	Et
			U
			Et Et Et
			R
			T
			S
			In
			Q
			W
			E

07 Conflict, stress and our conditioned tendencies 141

- Conditioned tendency response 143
- Meeting again 146
- Blending 149
- John's stress 153
- Applying this learning 156
- Recommended reading 163
- Notes 163

08 Giving feedback and being mindful rather than mindless 165

- Somatic assessments 165
- John's programme 175
- Ongoing practice 177
- Mindfulness meditation 178
- From mindfulness to mastery 183
- Applying this learning 185
- Recommended reading 189
- Notes 189

PART THREE The wider implications for leadership 19109 Ethical leadership 193

- Understanding group behaviours 195
- Ethical reasoning versus rationalization 201
- Ethical frameworks 204
- Ethical dilemmas 206
- Resisting social pressures and rationalizations 208
- Taking a stand 210
- Saying 'no'/declines 212
- Insists 213
- Quits 215
- What about controls? 216
- Exercising ethical leadership 217

Creating an ethical code	218
Recommended reading	219
Notes	219
10 Leadership for the 21st century	221
Working with complex systems	224
Innovation and creativity	226
We are motivated to be leaders	235
Innovation = leadership	236
Recommended reading	237
Notes	238
11 Conclusions	240
Taking up this challenge	242
Practise, practise, practise...	250
Embodied leadership development programmes	251
Certifying as a somatic coach	252
Further resources for consultants and coaches	253
Index	255